SUNDAY, AUGUST 6, 1893.

The King of Italy will not accept the salary paid to his Ministers.

The long-continued trouble between Italy and the Vatican is likely to be settled.

The assistant health Commissioners and the Commissioner Mechanic are expected to resign today.

The generals have but five days of French patience to farm the reserve amounted to 4,000,000 francs.

Yesterday was a battle near Bethel, Ireland, yesterday between Protestants and Orangemen. It was finally stopped by the police. A great many killed and several persons were wounded.

On the London Stock Exchange during the last week all departments were dreading an investigation by the country's financial condition. The movement was not unexpected, though feelings were not assuming.

It may not be amiss to call attention once more to the fact that not one of the thriving communities has yet made restitution to the county for the money stolen by them through the aid of the notorious bubbles. Cicero's tax not paid even that $1,000. Evans has not paid back the surplus given to the Whitley court. Warren has not compensated the county for the stamps right since. Will Keller has not refunded the money paid for Stephenson. Even Hayes has not refunded the price received for bridges. Before the remaining crooks are allowed to steal pretty here might be some understanding as to restitution. Let the name of Robinson, Gray, Abbott, Slocum, Stevens & Co., Avery & Smith, Poole & Smith, the county has not yet paid all their bills. The shortage may be put to no effects. The practice of the United States Courts in demanding restitution ere in the case of Bolton reggie best be acted on by the Council.

The statement that Chicago Railroad have been swallowed by the Controller of the Currency of their condition may 1 is the first one which makes a full showing of the effects of the late disaster law, as have the considerable delay in the application of that law in this city. The cash and treasury certificates are $21,241,110, against $11,000,000 March 4, while the item "due from banks and agents" has fallen from $11,000,000 to $4,000,000. The bank therefore have deposited much more money than heretofore, and the depositors much more than heretofore. The loans have increased since March 4 from $12,741,000 to $14,000,000, but are now about $1,000,000 smaller than they were the 4th of May. To the date of liabilities there has been an increase in deposits from $11,000,000 to $21,000,000 since March 4, the item "due banks" having increased a little over $1,000,000. The individual deposits have fallen off from $11,000,000 to $10,000,000 since May 10, which is proportionally quite less than the decrease in the deposits of the New York banks. There are no other important changes except an increase in circulation from $400,000 to $971,000 since May 10, but the statement certainly shows a startling growth of strength, and independence on the part of the Chicago banks.

The Rapid Recovery says the Russian Government is going to the necessity of spending and conserving the means for keeping from the treasury of its money the blow which has to appear for export. The trade has been for several years to a state of unhealthy expansion, and experienced a temporary relief during the existence of the Chicago season. That event set in the possession of a much greater wheat for the receipts of Western Europe as to cause a temporary collapse of the market, but the situation of that situation appears to have not changed in a great material from what before. Statistics just published at St. Petersburg show that the cost of transporting wheat from Russian ports to the Baltic (Chicago to St. Petersburg and thence to London, to about twice as much as it adds to carry the wheat from India, and nearly three times as much, as to carry it from Chicago to Liverpool, while the rate of raising wheat is greater in Russia than in the Punjab. The Government has now under consideration a plan for building grain elevators at every great station along the Volga and the use of steam on the canals of the interior. It has hitherto been customary for the Russian agents of steamship companies to buy wheat at Odessa and other Black Sea ports for export.

Democratic candidates for Wardens of counties in Tennessee are being discussed in connection with the appointment of new Criminal Judges to succeed the brothers. None of the "claims" put forward on the part of one or three candidates count-fitness, as stated in yesterday's Tribune, are to any the least extent peculiar. No sooner is one of the county Judgeships announced than no less than a dozen applications, and several that Fred Bigger was designing others lost to keeping pace, right there and every other and better men for each and lost at the County Democratic Convention. Why Wardens Gray was allowing time enough to the said contention, and that Burke was hesitating thereof with so the Judge Jarlon, that the county organization was influencing the county at Chattanooga, and so on. No more at this, and perhaps no excitement to a more Democratic Convention, than has ever been known to occur and now result in the press or public about that same Democratic. So keep the backings of the county to himself and a few choice friends, and the country has provided to go on. The man to succeed the Sheriff is not to the county organization—those the friends of Confederate history—and to that the brothers are to become a candidate to succeed the County Warden Gray. Or-

There was trouble in the Appointment Warden at the Lenox Asylum. Dr. Kemp was elected by the county Warden to succeed Dr. Blanchard whom the latter opposed the establishment of the institutions of Jefferson. He was Democrat's political interest, and the matter will receive the further attention of Gov. Hill. The appointment campaign of life. The power with candidates on Commissioner Kemp are given to understand that Cook County does not need their services for ten yet.

THE ANDREWS ATTRACTION.

Commodore Andrews was plucky enough, but inexperienced and at a loss to give many a distinct interpretation. The Duke theory of the course of light has a mighty hold on the public mind, and since the tide took a favorable turn years ago the people have been disposed to magnify encouraging facts and hidden lines of an opposite character. They admit that the country always goes on but strive to a period of prosperity and that it is only a question of time when present difficulties will heal to some infinite and consequent collapse, but they do not think that encouraging has yet gone far enough to see the danger point. But the last few weeks have been full of incidents that support, and those in a considerable degree of reality among prominent merchants. They have been excited to the West time to the East. From the eastward cities come dispatches indicating the reproduction of an extra full trade and representatives of surplus of the conservative temper of Chicago people. The same reason for the renewal is that Chicago is nearer the great grain fields that is more immediately affected by the crops. And the reports from the east are not of a sort to make Chicagoans thoughtful, to say the least. The calamities of the drought done to the corn by the dry weather may or may not be too great, but certain it is that they have produced a depressing effect on business. And it is not as if corn alone had been destroyed. The hay crop is short, particularly in New, and was here came to be a object of the injury.

The natural situation appreciated last week by converting to the Baltimore—makes a more unfavorable appearance to Chicago than to New York. It is for the interest of New York to favor an advance a fight on credits over the security market. It is known that the present which grips the stocks and bonds are kept running. It is known that the securities are sold to the first bidders, and it is from that point that they are distributed to speculative investors throughout the country. There are still stocks and bonds of sure and unexpected needs to be sold, and the natural activities of the fall season are counted upon to that them. It will not do for the bankers there, to let the people get into a suspicious frame of mind before the fall have come to an. The businesses of the city from the natural decline in stocks, however, seem that the public can safely depend to buy, and there is a marked increase in the time that buying on stocks in Chicago. It is not that the railroads are moving less money, but have advanced that have benefited their tariff to bolster by private loans from time to time. The banking situation has the fact, the exports and premiums of St. Louis produced their temporary effect; the New York & New England and Erie and coal, as did the Baltimore effect; and fact of all, the true financial considerations dictate the business and time bankers really discount by deals. The appointment of the people are not now abandoned by any of the great advocates of a low scarcity age, and traders are obliged to fall back on the suggested security of the securities.

The worst outlook continues to be a prosperity of society. Secretary Carlisle's effort to prove interest and bad bank bills fail. The opposite to the Bill Every month are the sentiment the year and the pulpit to increase in damaging. Money is still loaning over the United States Treasury, and banks are in the West are employing what they are to get the small bills needed in buying up grain. Meanwhile the Bank of England has raised its discount rate to 4 per cent, while for the present at least, prevents the shipment of specie to this country.

The collapse of the wheat corner in San Francisco had been expected so long that it caused little heave, but it is not a reassuring thing to hear the centre of one of the most consistent bodies of the country called to question. This effect, like the three similar ones by other markets in the last year or two, is local and temporary in its effects, but implies environments seriously and threatens the business, or what point and to what breach of business will the same can come? There are no other transactions but speculations going on middle lines to the whole, but they serve a very wide subject of necessary, and we think to post a sort of check for pitching bubbles on, may help to see the calamitous evidence lends by one to the wheat corner. Some of the best business men in the country have been caught in the wheat deals, and many of them have been ruined. Their example will be followed by others, and the result will be a more conservative spirit in the management of business affairs.

STATE INSPECTION.

In accordance with the provisions of the several act which requires the State Board of Equalization to meet the first or second Tuesday of August, that body will convene at Springfield tomorrow. The old organization holds over, as there will be no delay on that account in getting down to business. There are the committees. The reports and other documentary information are referred to their appropriate committees at once, and the real work of the body is almost wholly done in committee. The full board does not convene as such authority as it ought to. A few votes of courtesy precede the body as a whole from property owning the reports made. It will probably be some six weeks before the final report will be submitted. The most important committee of all, the one on railroads, did not report last year until the 5th of October. The taxable property of the citizens of the State was assessed at $21,000,000, and an endeavor at an easy job upon the capital stock, the history of the committee and of the board being that the railroads had been enabled to themselves with the tangible property. It will be time enough to discuss the taxing assessment of 1893 after the auditor of Public Accounts has submitted to the committee his usual figures, but it is not premature to remind the committee that the aggregate of taxable, especially railroad assessments, would increase of ten per cent, and that the railroad taxpayers will no longer tamely submit to the underassessment of that class of property.

Another important committee is the one on the assessment of the capital stock of corporations other than railroads. A revenue decision in the construction of this committee is another item from that county.

There are a great many well-organizations in the big business in this county and some one of them sometimes should have been sent to. The committee and springtime business there has year and previous years gone into plastic. For example, last year the South Chicago Rapid Transit Company was created by the State Board in the Town of South Chicago, instead of the Town of Lake Park. The site was a natural one, involving probably no investment strong. From the law has no suspension of the South Town Collector was necessary thereby to the extent of $60,000. Again that same Schoolmaster has evidence a law of $60,000, due to the fact that that committee, in the interests of Chicago, put on an assessment upon a network electric light company. These and another transfers show the importance and difficulty of this work. The Governor quite attention to the matter in the hope that more care will be taken this year than in the past to relieve this great State of the burden of the assessment.

The current declaration of the session and spring to the Legislature and elsewhere through the State should impress upon the Board of Equalization that the people of Illinois are far from satisfied with the working of the present tax system, and that this dissatisfaction is largely due to the way the Board of Equalization does the duty or fails to do duty. It seems to regard itself as set for the defense of great corporations as against individuals and small property holders. We do not charge that this is actually the case, but that such an impression widely prevails. The session which is now beginning should serve by the proceedings to free the board from that suspicion.

DANGEROUS AGITATION IN IOWA.

Judge Shiras has sent to the United States Circuit Court for the Northern District of Iowa, Cedar Rapids, Dubuque, and Waterloo from the County Board in passing sentence upon those rioters. Those they have withdrawn their action for a new trial there is nothing to delay the sentence. At once an sentence has been pronounced that conviction of an offense involving "a violation of their oaths of office" will be considered; and under the statutes their seats in the County Board will thereby "become vacant." The resignations of the four Commissioners subjected to a fine after sentence has been pronounced will not be required. They will have nothing to regret. There seats will be filled by Democratic and Independent "agents," and may be filled by resolution by the remaining members of the board. There will be no violence about it on the part of the convicted Socialists, and we don't know that there should be any.

The only reason by which McCarthy, who is said to be opposed to resigning, can retain the Commissionership for a few weeks longer is by pressing upon the United Socialists to a petition for a new trial. The State Circuit Supervisors will hardly take that serious risk. So the statement of the case from the record before us shows however, seems that the public can safely depend to buy, and there is a marked increase in the time that buying on stocks in Chicago. It is not that the railroads are moving less money, but have advanced that have benefited their tariff to bolster by private loans from time to time. The banking situation has the fact, the exports and premiums of St. Louis produced their temporary effect; the New York & New England and Erie and coal, as did the Baltimore effect; and fact of all, the true financial considerations dictate the business and time bankers really discount by deals.
